

THE CHRISTMASAURUS

TOM FLETCHER

Illustrated by SHANE DEVRIES

To all you wonderful readers of The Christmasaurus,

At this special time of year, we want to say a dinosaur-sized THANK YOU for reading and supporting Tom Fletcher's books. This yuletide, we have lots of special treats on their way, because not only is The Christmasaurus: Live on Stage taking over the London Apollo, you can also listen to all the songs in a new musical edition of the book!

The Christmasaurus: The Musical Edition is a beautiful hardback book with magical illustrations by Shane Devries, which comes with an exclusive soundtrack of 14 songs on CD. All the music is written and performed by Tom Fletcher, accompanied by a full orchestra. Inside, the book are prompts throughout so you know when to press play AND the lyrics to all the songs so you can sing along!

The countdown has begun . . .

Whether you're reading The Christmasaurus at your school or planning some festive fun at your bookshop, right now you are holding in your hands the means to write a letter to Santa and make your own Christmasaurus Christmas Cards as well as your very own Christmasaurus Door Hanger to make sure the big guy in red stops by. There's even the sheet music so you can sing one of the songs with your local Christmasaurus Choir.

The Elves' Song-Writing Competition!

Tom and the elves need your help to write one more song! If yours is the winner then you could see it performed by Tom in a special video and receive £100 of Puffin Books. The rules are simple: it has to rhyme, it can be no longer than twelve lines and it must be BURSTING with Christmasaurus joy!

To enter and to unwrap more Christmasaurus presents, head over to puffin.co.uk/penguin/christmasaurus

That's all for now – and may we be the very first to wish you a very, merry Christmas!

love PUFFIN
